

Tobacco Can Lids

Tobaks-dåse-låg-samling

Another crazy collection
Endnu en skør samling

When I was a smoker, I preferred smoking my pipes – more than 30 years ago - and I tried a lot of different brands of tobaccos, in pursuit of what had the best taste for me. Unfortunately I did turn to cigarettes in the early 80's leaving the pipes in the drawer. The Red Dunhill became my cigarette brand. I stopped all smoking about 25 years ago, but..

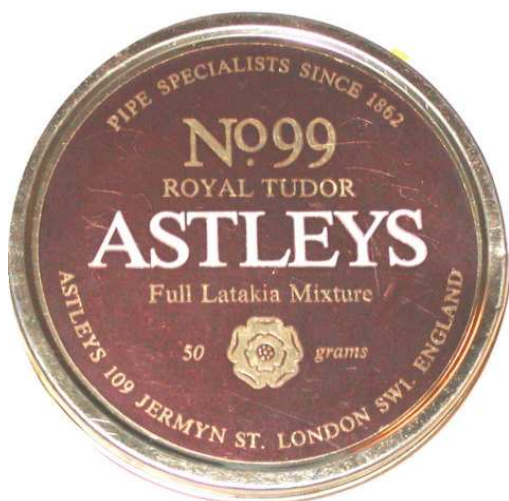

To remember which pipe tobaccos I had tried, I kept the lid of the can. Weird... I know. I have been told so many times from friends... Virginia tobacco turned out to be the tobacco for me and especially the ones from Dunhill. They ended as my favourites. I must admit, that the Danish brand Mac Baren's also suited me well, even if "real" pipe smokers did put it down as "sawdust".

Today, all I can say is: DON'T SMOKE! In the end it will ruin your health and kill you.

Here comes what I tried out – in alphabetically order:

My all time favourite!
